

Wilson Finds Out More About Olympic High's Public/Private Partnership Model

Originally printed at <http://www.foxcharlotte.com/rising/wilsons-world/Wilson-Finds-Out-More-About-Olympic-Highs--137005358.html>

By Jon Wilson/ Mike Thomas Photojournalist
By D Barnes
January 10, 2012

CHARLOTTE, N.C. - Wilson was at Olympic High School today finding out more about their many educational projects such as Seavibe and Olympic's own version of "The Apprentice," a competition to obtain paid internships at local businesses.

Thanks to Olympic High School's Public/Private Partnership with local companies, students are expanding their education through experimental and project-based learning. Siemens Energy, Federal Reserve Bank, Wells Fargo, Ernst & Young, KBR, Coca Cola are only a few of the local businesses that have participated in the program along with local non-profits. Wilson talks with Olympic students and faculty and representatives of some of the companies involved in this great program.

Check out these weblinks from today's Wilson's World:

Mecklenburg Citizens for Public Education (Meck Ed) - mecked.org,

Seavibe Foundation - seavibe.org

Olympic Innovation - olympicinnovation.com.

FOX CHARLOTTE 38° Cloudy High: 38° Low: 38° Traffic 5 Day Forecast Radars Interactive

NEWS RISING

Free Local Coupons | Musshots | Nightlife Photos | Pets 4 Adoption | Funny Photos | Streaming LIVE YOU CHARLOTTE

REBOOT CLT | GAS PRICES | INSIDE FOX

Follow @FOXCharlotte MeTV

Wilson Finds Out More About Olympic High's Public/Private Partnership Model

TOOLS

- EMAIL THIS ARTICLE
- PRINT THIS ARTICLE
- FACEBOOK
- TWEET
- DIGG

by Jon Wilson/ Mike Thomas Photojournalist
by D Barnes
Story Created: Jan 10, 2012 at 8:23 AM EST
(Story Updated: Jan 10, 2012 at 9:28 AM EST)

FOX CHARLOTTE STREAMING

Waiting for cas.clickability.com...